Points of interest

1 The Fort Stevens Military Reservation guarded the mouth of the Columbia River from the Civil War through World War II. Explore the gun batteries and stop by the Visitor Center for up close views of military artifacts. Hop into the back of a restored army truck for an informative tour of the grounds, or explore a unique “underground” battery on a guided walk.

Contact the Visitor Center for current hours: 503-861-2000

2 The Columbia Shores Disc Golf Course is a multi-hole journey through the historic military installations along the Columbia River. Short and long tee positions attract beginners and pro players alike. Use your own discs, or buy some at the park’s visitor center or ranger station.

Day-use Parking Fee

A parking permit is required in all areas of Fort Stevens State Park. Daily permits are for sale in vending machines at Coffenbury Lake and the Historic area, online, or via QR Codes in parking areas. Campers may park for free by displaying a valid camping receipt.

Vehicles on the Beach

Motor vehicles are prohibited north of Peter Iredale beach access to the South Jetty from noon to midnight, May 1-Sep. 15.

3 Battery Russell, constructed in 1904 and outfitted with unique disappearing guns, was attacked by a Japanese submarine during World War II.

4 The Peter Iredale shipwreck protrudes from the sand near the southern beach access parking area. The English sailing ship ran aground during a storm in 1906.

5 Climb the South Jetty observation tower to spot big waves, passing ships and birds. Enter the wildlife viewing bunker near lot D and keep your eyes peeled for local animals.

Recreation activities are restricted at Clatsop Spit March 15-Sep. 15 during western snowy plover nesting season. Follow posted signs.
