POINTS OF INTEREST

(GPS coordinates shown in decimal degrees)

- 1 BLUESTEM PRAIRIE
32.3541° -95.9932°
Summer or winter, birds and mammals find a use for bluestem grass species, for food or shelter. Here at the park, we're working to restore this important habitat.
- 2 NATIVE WATER PLANTS RESTORATION
32.3581° -96.0023°
Just at the lake's edge, you will notice a wire cage partially submerged in the water. TPWD biologists built and placed 10 of these cages around the lake to keep invasive grass carp from eating native grasses as they grow.
- 3 ENTRANCE TO OAK FOREST
32.3626° -96.0066°
All trails here lead to an upland forest composed primarily of post oak, blackjack oak, and black hickory trees. White-tailed deer, coyotes, raccoons and a multitude of bird species call this area home.
- 4 BENT BY NATURE
32.3648° -96.0080°
Check out the bend in this young oak tree's main trunk; it has been bent 90° twice and it is still thriving on its own! What do you think caused these bends?
- 5 BURLWOOD TREE
32.3646° -96.0066°
A burl is where the wood grain of a tree has grown in a deformed way. It's usually caused by stress and is typically found on the tree's trunk as a rounded outgrowth.
- 6 FEATHERED FRIENDS
32.3640° -96.0016°
Take a peek from this bird blind to see the birds that frequent Purtis Creek Lake. Bald eagles nest in the area and white pelicans can be found here during the winter. What species can you identify?
- 7 A PLACE TO REST
32.3643° -96.0004°
Pause here next to the bridge spanning one of the many water inlets to the lake, and take in a gorgeous view. You may hear a hawk cry, or even see beaver out and about in the early evening.

Purtis Creek State Park

More than just great bass!

An hour southeast of Dallas, Purtis Creek State Park is known for its bass fishing, but there’s so much more to do! Come for the fish, and stay to swim, hike or bike the trails, or just relax by the lake.

STAYING SAFE

KNOW YOUR LIMITS. Prepare for sun and heat. Wear sunscreen, insect repellent and appropriate clothing/ hiking shoes.

DRINK PLENTY OF WATER. Your body quickly loses fluids when you're on the trail. Bring a quart of water per hour of activity.

TELL OTHERS WHERE YOU’LL BE. If possible, avoid exploring alone. Tell someone where you are going and when you plan to return.

BIKE SAFELY. Check with park HQ to match the trail to your skill level. Wear a helmet to protect yourself in case of a crash.

YOU MAY NOT BE ABLE TO CONNECT. It’s a good idea to take along a cell phone and GPS unit, but don't count on them.

POTENTIALLY HARMFUL PLANTS AND ANIMALS MAY LIVE HERE. You’ll see them more easily if you stay on trails.
